Workshop: EU Deforestation Regulation for Foreign Exporters: How to ensure that your products comply with the requirements

Acquire Essential Skills for EU Market Access

Gain the knowledge and expertise needed to navigate the complexities of the EU Deforestation Regulation, ensuring compliance, enhancing competitiveness, and supporting global sustainability to maintain access to EU markets.

Aim of the Seminar

Master the requirements of the EU Deforestation Regulation as a foreign exporter to EU customers.

Content

Regulation 1115/2023 (EU) on deforestation and forest degradation (EUDR) has been in force since June 2023. Companies subject to the EUDR must be ready to apply the regulation by 30 December 2024 (small and micro-enterprises by 30 June 2025). The EUDR only imposes obligations on companies based in the EU.

However, the EUDR constitutes an import and export ban for the commodities listed in Annex I of the Regulation: cattle, cocoa, coffee, palm oil, rubber, soya, timber, and products if they are not deforestation-free and do not comply with the relevant legislation of the country of production. The EUDR therefore also indirectly affects companies based outside the EU. Many industries are affected, including machinery (through rubber spare parts), coffee and cocoa trade, furniture, and the paper industry.

Who should attend?

English-speaking foreign exporters supplying EU customers with their goods, who need to comply with the requirements of the EU Deforestation Regulation.
